

Machu Picchu & the Galápagos

Trip B: July 31 - August 17, 2027

Essence of Andes & Islands: Machu Picchu to the Galápagos

You step off your flight into Lima's high-altitude embrace, the Andes unfolding across the horizon. In Cusco, ancient Inca stonework glimmers in the golden light, and the air hums with centuries of history. The journey begins with the whispered stories of the Sacred Valley—sunlit terraces, mist-shrouded peaks, and local villagers crafting textiles as they've for generations.

Then, a sunrise train ride along the hills brings Machu Picchu into view: Huayna Picchu's peak stands guard over the fabled citadel. Under expert guidance, you explore the Incan sanctuaries where mystery and craftsmanship meet the sky.

Next, you fly to Ecuador's capital, Quito, nestled between volcanic peaks. Within hours, you're drifting into the ever-blossoming life of the Galápagos aboard your small ship, where snorkeling with sea lions and hiking volcanic beaches become your daily rhythm. Onboard a 16-passenger vessel exclusively charters for groups like yours, each cove reveals new wonders: marine iguanas, giant tortoises, playful penguins—and that sense of endless discovery.

From the timeless Andes to evolutionary marvels of the Pacific, this journey connects culture, wildlife, and awe in every moment.
